Greencrowd, founded in 2012, engage in the investment and finance of sustainable energy projects. Greencrowd have their own crowdfunding platform within the foundation.

Jan Willem Zwang is founder and manager of Greencrowd. He worked in different financial roles within other countries up till 2002. After that Jan Willem worked at different companies within the energy industry. He founded Tensor Energy (2008) and Greenspread (2010) and also co-founded ADEM Houten (2010). However, since 2014 Jan Willem is only involved within Greencrowd.

Next to the crowdfunding activities that do not have any financial benefit, Greencrowd is also involved in commercial activities. These activities are to help develop and structure sustainable-energy-projects and finances that are not through the crowdfunding platform such as private investors and banks.

Greencrowd is a small team of independent, experienced partners with several years of experience within the sustainable energy markets and financial industry.

The Greencrowd motto is as easy as it gets: If we can't structure it, you can't finance it!
